The MOUNT REGIS 1960

College Hall Parterre stands symbolic of a bulwark of knowledge, of a barrier against error.

Foreword

Without the Way, there is no going;
Without the Truth, there is no knowing;
Without the Life, there is no living.

Another phase of our life ends. As we walk down the long corridor in College Hall, hollow echoes of our footsteps recall the evanescent past. Vivid are the mental pictures of our first glimpse of the majestic columns of the Parterre...the trying yet joyful days spent in Initiation, after which we were finally members of the collegiate clan...the wonderment of our first conference with our Faculty Advisers, as we chose our fields of concentration...the pure amazement that Junior Week could embody such a ream of happy memories ...and the look of accomplishment on each face when we were invested with caps and gowns.

The shiny gold seal donning this annual exemplifies the joy of our college years. The Way, Truth and Life guided our every step. He was, is and always will be an intricate part of our existence because of what has been instilled in our hearts and minds. Time has elapsed never to be known again. A new life is awaiting us ...challenging yet unknown. With Him we are ready to meet and conquer it.

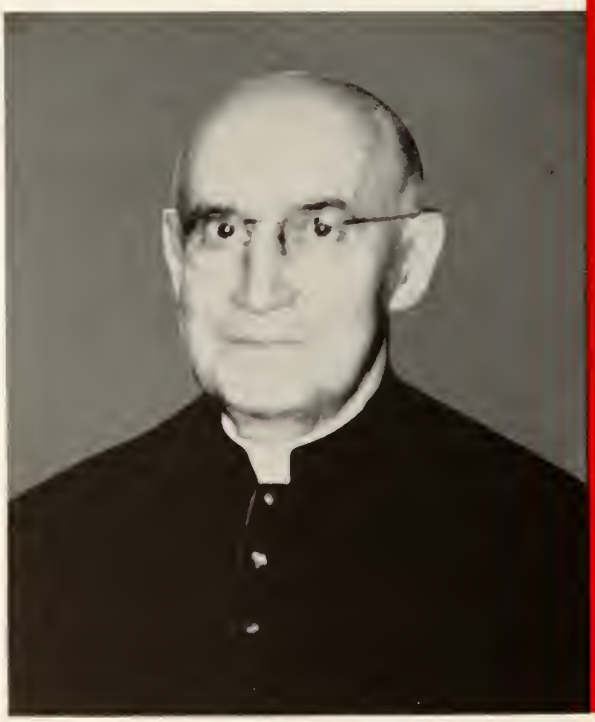
APPRECIATION

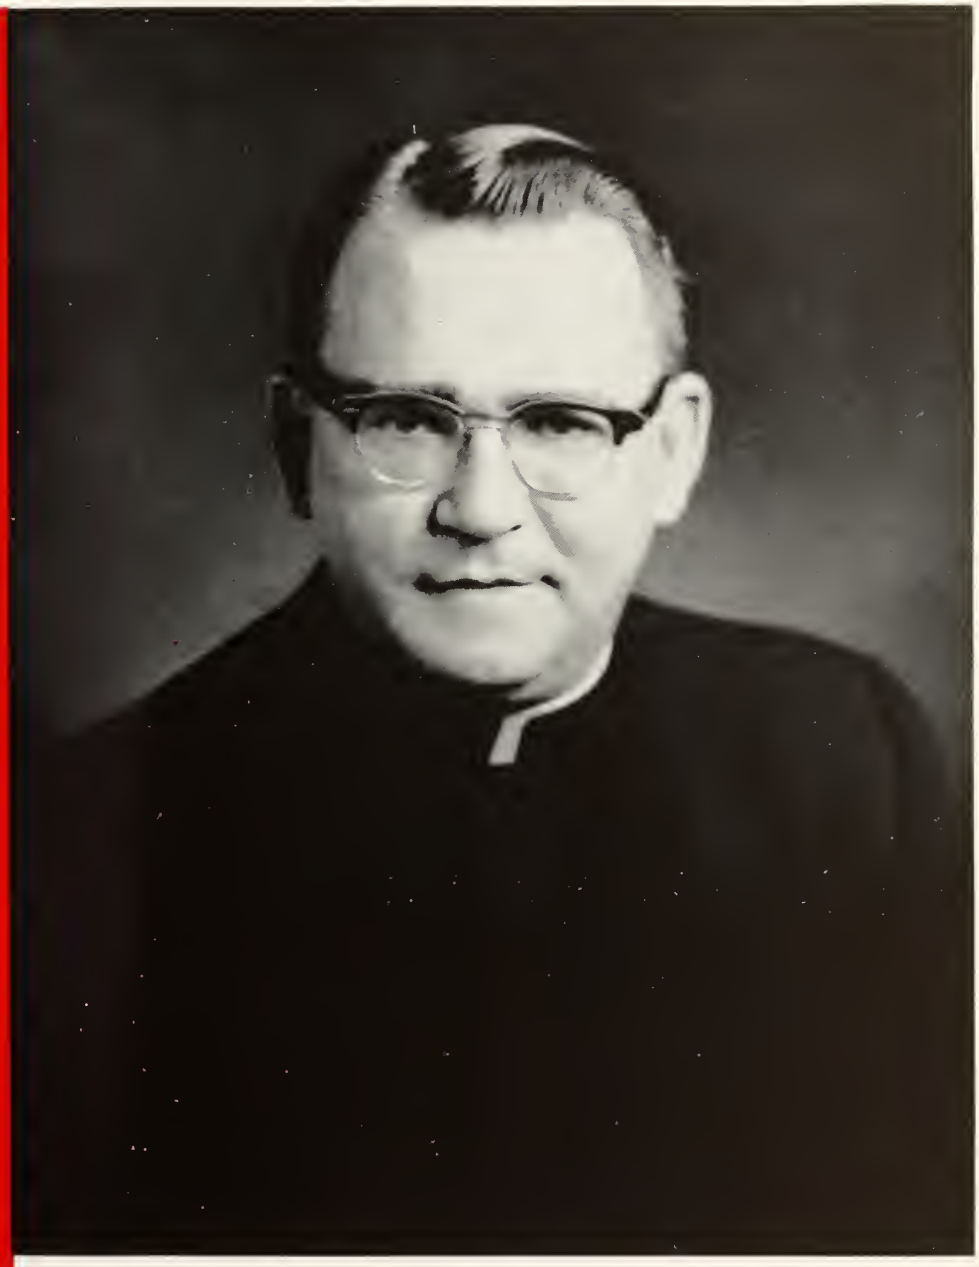
"The teaching of the wise is a fountain of life, that a man may avoid the snares of death."

Loyal Faculty member since 1927, Monsignor Hickey will live in the hearts and prayers of alumnae and students because of his unselfish contribution to their Alma Mater. For his permeating influence in each class and his deep-rooted interest in the development of the College, the Class of 1960 salutes Monsignor Hickey, epitome of the Regis spirit.



Monsignor Augustine F. Hickey, V.G., beloved instructor and friend of Regis Alumnae.

DEDICATION



Reverend Dennis J. Burns, Regis College Chaplain, through his unselfish contributions, has won the hearts of Faculty and Students.

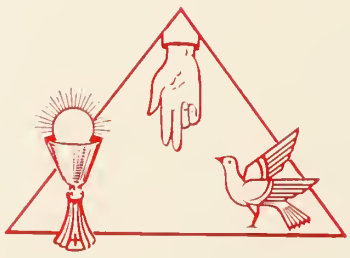
"For lack of guidance a people falls; security lies in many counsellors."

With heartfelt gratitude, we dedicate the 1960 MOUNT REGIS to Reverend Dennis J. Burns, our Chaplain, Professor and friend, who all too often steps into the background when recognition is proffered. His priestly zeal, cheerful and cooperative contacts and scholastic drive have gained the respect of each and every Regisite to whom he has given advice, counsel and expert guidance. Whether on the altar or in a casual conversation, Father exemplifies the attributes of a great priest, man, scholar and friend.

The Graduating Class offers sincere appreciation for his being an integral part of their happiness at Regis College.

Learning Burdens Ease in Modern Light

Regis College Library Building, modernistic scene of students' academic activities, houses reading facilities, carrells, seminar rooms, language laboratories, Newman collections and Cardinal Spellman stamp exhibits.



A medieval tower overlooked the Morrison estate when Mother Mary Domitilla purchased it in 1927 for the Sisters of St. Joseph. This Norman Tower was to symbolize strength and virtue of Regis, first resident Catholic college for women in the Archdiocese of Boston.

The 170-acre campus was named for Mother Mary Regis, who led a small group of Sisters from Brooklyn to establish the first community in Boston, on October 2, 1873. On this date, known as Founders' Day, Seniors receive their academic robes.

Sister Mary Finbarr, Dean, and Sister Mary Mildred, Registrar, greeted the 55 students of the first graduating class.

Budded Spring Descends Upon the Campus

Regis Hall, silhouetted by two majestic columns of the Parterre, is seen looming in the distance. This pioneer building on the campus is the frequent setting for Alumnae activity, Art classes and music lessons.

Natural Perfumes Float Up in Praise

Tower Garden, an added attraction to the peaceful dignity of the campus, provides a picturesque setting for Founders' Day and Commencement.

Each Phase of Study Embraces Christ

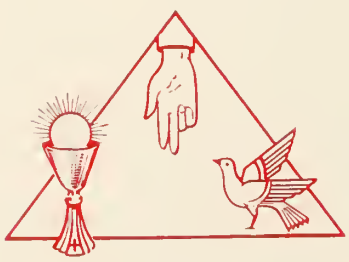
Cardinal O'Connell Hall, located at the right of Katsura Drive, houses Chemistry, Biology and Physics Laboratories for scientific pursuits.

Students' Chapel in College Hall is the scene of daily Mass and provides a haven for moments of meditation.

Beauty Within Enhances Spring Designs

Secretly echoing the whole history of the college is Regis Hall, located on the highest point of Katsura Drive.

The reception room of Regis Hall has played host to many college activities throughout the years.



Regis Waits, Works With a Purpose

Snugly situated next to the Grotto is the Business Building, offering opportunities for aspirants of the professional world.

The Morrison home became Regis Hall, housing a chapel, classrooms and dormitory. The two-story garage contained a gymnasium, biology laboratory, library and dormitory.

By 1928, College Hall graced the campus and ten years later Cardinal O'Connell Hall, science quarters, appeared. The garage became the Business Building.

St. Joseph, patron of the community founded in LePuy, France, 1650, gave his name to the faculty residence, 1946.

Regis Library opened its doors in 1955 and Maria Hall, dormitory, was ready the next year. Future days will see a fine arts building, student union, chapel.

This view of the Lobby in Maria Hall shows the statue of Our Lady, the only one of its kind, erected as a tribute to Monsignor Hickey.

Beauty Plays a Role of Hospitality

The Gold Room in College Hall houses the portrait of St. John Francis Regis, painted by Sister M. Louisella, Head of the Regis Art Department.

This reception room in Regis Hall is ideal not only for student and alumnae meetings but also for gatherings of the Guild mothers.

That We May Advance in Learning Well

Director of the Appointment Bureau, Mrs. Margaret McCulloch, takes a break after a long day of studying student job possibilities.

Dr. Laurence Phalan, Lecturer in Economics, enjoys time out from planning Seminars, to catch up on current magazine articles.

Faculty

Three Regis scientists received grants for research work.

Chairman of the Chemistry Department, Sister Mary Emily has a $4,500 grant from the Tobacco Industry Research Committee to survey arsenic present in tobacco samples used for cigarettes.

A research problem in the field of Genetics is the project of Sister M. Cecilia Agnes, Instructor in Biology. Her grant of $1,887 came from the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Maryland, for experimentation on the fruit fly.

Miss Joan Shields, Instructor in Chemistry, is testing Grignard reactions, through a grant from the Petroleum Research Fund, courtesy of the American Chemical Company.

Equations cover the blackboard, as Dr. Gottfried Noether, Lecturer in Mathematics, illustrates a difficult problem for his class.

Integrated Courses Mold Mature Women

Faculty

Dr. Edward Case, Assistant Professor of Philosophy, confers with Gerald Robinson, Lecturer in Art, after a long day of classes.

Miss Edwina Hughes and Miss Olive Nolan, instructors in Physical Education, formulate plans for athletic activities of the Regis campus.

For distinguished merits and services given to French culture and cause, Mme. Aline Laus, Associate Professor of French, received "Chevalier dans l'Ordre des Palmes Académiques."

Harvard University Press and the Oxford Press simultaneously printed Edmund Burke and Ireland, by Dr. Thomas H. D. Mahoney, Lecturer in History. His book deals with the lifelong efforts of the great statesman to help his native land.

"Transportation in Metropolitan Boston" was spotlighted on television four times this year as an Economic Seminar, under the direction of Dr. J. Laurence Phalan, Economics Department.

Alvin Simmons, Instructor in Psychology, relaxes during one of his free periods with a current issue of The Regis Herald.

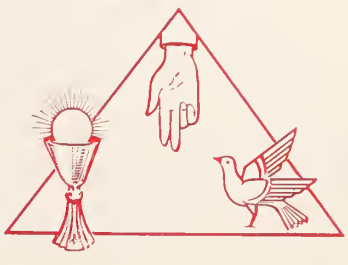
Labs and Lectures—Straits of Truth

Demonstrating the proper aseptic techniques in this Microbiology Laboratory, Miss Julia Barnabo guarantees pure results.

Miss Maureen Donnelly, Psychology Instructor, Miss Nancy Devlin, Government Instructor, and Dr. Helen Husted, Chemistry Associate Professor, discuss current events in class activities.

This pensive pose sees Mrs. Marianne Childress as she enlightens Regis students in the History of Philosophy down the days.

Mary Heron, Miss Joan Shields, Chemistry Instructor, Ann-Louise Whitcomb and Ann Hynes work together to finish experiment.



To Understand Another Way of Life

Miss Alice Maginnis, Lecturer in Art, takes a few minutes between classes to talk with Mme. Aline Laus, French Professor.

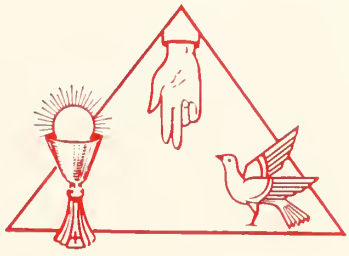
Miss Mary Hamilton, Professor of German, and Dr. Emiliana Noether, Lecturer in History, scan one of the faculty notices.

Social Science professors, Mr. Thomas Overkleeft and Dr. Thomas Mahoney, exchange views in discussion with Dr. Boleslaw Wysocki, Psychology Department.

Dr. Anthony Perehinec, Instructor in Russian and German, is one of the new additions to the Regis family this year.

Faculty

Christ Within and Through Each Day



Fathers Donald Clifford, Dennis Burns and George Sullivan discuss various approaches to their presentation of Philosophy.

Dr. Mary Bryan, English Professor, Miss Marion Pyne, Home Economics, Miss Grace Hawley, English, and Miss Shields help to confer caps and gowns on Founders' Day.

Nativity came early to campus with a solemn Candlelighting Ceremony held in the Foyer and a formal faculty banquet, which have become memorable recollections of before-Christmas activities at Regis.

Junior Year Marks Epoch of Reflecting

Juniors

The Class of 1961 returned to campus as distinguished upperclassmen with a newly-acquired air of assurance. Junior year was a time of maturing and belonging, with a spirit of unity permeating each event. Casual acquaintances became life-time friends, troubles were shared and happy hours enjoyed. Every student participated in work and play, joy and learning.

With plans for Ring Day and Junior Week in their minds, the discovery of unexplored knowledge in their fields of concentration, through Seminar, kept Juniors in the library. Despite the added scholastic burden, members did not allow their expectations to be dampened.

From the first hand of cards at the Junior Bridge to the last strains of music at the Tea Dance came cherished memories. The whirl of the year led rapidly to May and with pleasant anticipation, next year's Seniors look towards their final year at Regis.

Patricia Crowley, Joan Carney, Nancy Lague, Susan Hennessey outside.

Diana Sullivan, Elizabeth Boyle, Barbara Aghay, Kate Martin stop for a bit of conversation after a study bout in the Library.

Anticipating, Strengthening of Maturity

Juniors living in Maria Hall are seen relaxing in one of the lounges. They are Eleanor Murphy, Jane D'Ercole, Sheila Curry, Anne McGovern, Gertrude Foley, and Maureen Bosteel.

Mary Anne Gebelein, Diane Doherty, Colleen Kelley, Nancy Cunningham, Carole Bleiler, Patricia Dowd, Francine Hurley plan for the Ring Dance.

Books Walk Along as Companions for Fun

Sophomores Play Active Roles on Campus

Sophomores

As Sophomores complete another step in their college career, 1962 draws nearer. Last September saw no frightened faces among them. The class returned with a sense of belonging, which increased when they found themselves on the initiating side during Freshman Beanie Week. Counseling the newcomers evidenced their zeal, loyalty and responsibility, as they explained Regis traditions.

With the passing of the language examination, Sophomores realized that they had reached the academic halfway mark toward the final goal. Hours glided by more rapidly, as they chose their fields of concentration.

Sophomore Week elicited a common bond, while each member participated.

Progressing in spiritual, intellectual and social aspirations, the next Junior Class anticipates accepting all challenges to be offered in the remaining college years.

Guiding eyes of the Sophomore Class are Grace Doherty, Mary Bernet, Carole Kennedy, Catherine Norris, Janet Magnani and Mary Jane Powers.

Catherine Donaher, Jean DeVincent, Nancy Earley, Jane Corliss, Joanne Fitzgerald gather in lounge to compare Dr. Case's philosophy notes.

Carol O'Brien, Carole Kennedy, Judith Horgan, Judith Barry, Patricia Haughey enjoy a bit of social chatter.

M. McCauley, P. Lilly, M. Lord, J. O'Reilly, S. Giacolone, M. Sands, H. Swiatek and R. Shannon relax and enjoy the sun on the Parterre.

L. Mirto, M. Bellew, J. Benoit, H. Swiatek, P. Lilly, M. L. Sullivan and M. Enright pose happily for their picture.

M. McCauley, D. DeNave and B. Turnbull join B. Gaudet, M. Brown, M. L. Sullivan, M. Sands, J. Bellucci for a chat between classes.

C. Masiuk, P. Crosby, U. Foley, M. Horan, J. Fallon, M. Connelly, F. Finn and E. Lynch show avid interest in something other than the photographer.

Apprehensive Novices Mature First Year

Freshman leaders include (front row) G. Volkommer, J. O'Hearne; (back row) E. Hutchinson, J. Kramptiz, K. Coyle and E. Coleman.

Freshmen

A year has passed for the Class of 1963, each member of which is now an intimate part of Regis campus life. Eagerly, excitedly, enthusiastically the Freshmen hurdled tasks set before them and traveled the road of adjustment.

The beginning of mature women was evident through the smiling faces accepting Initiation blues and sombre Saturday classes. However, what was a little drudgery in contrast to college week ends and stag dances, opening new horizons for their fondest dreams?

Seriousness in electing officers was pointed out to the newest members of the college.

Now that the uniqueness of collegiate life has faded into a routine, the flame of curiosity still burns brightly. For the Freshmen alone three years stretch out beckoning fingers for each member to follow the Regis traditions, to know the Way and the Truth and to follow the Life.

Marilyn Leary, Eleanor Keilty, Antoinette Schwartz, Roberta Beaupre, Carol Orsi, Joan Iverson relax.

Cheerful Freshmen include Jane Curry (centre), Anna Pikes, Barbara Gessay, Susan Barrett, Rosemary Joerge and Mary Olson.

Excited Début Moments Are Justified

Registration Day opened wide vistas for Freshmen Marilyn Clarke, Sheila Shroeder, Cecilia Bragan, Joan Iverson, Christine Dahlstrom and Kathleen Hickey, who become acquainted with the campus.

Browsing through the Paperback Center are K. Tangney, M. DeVito, A. Hughes, E. Walters, K. Hurley, M. Supple, R. Joerg, R. Moran.

Student Leaders Represent the Whole

Deborah Rooney calls General Assembly group to order. Attentive Student Council members include Diane Doherty, Jane D'Ercole, Grace Doherty, Mary Alice Bernet, Mary Flaherty, Marie Antonelli, Judith King, Barbara Cunningham, Suzanne Buteau, Christina Kennedy, Gail Brosnihan, Winifred Murphy, Brenda Donnelly, Mary Lou DeMaria and Mary Duggan.

Student Council

"Unity in Truth" has been the integrating theme of Student Council during the last year. Under the direction of Deborah Rooney and Mary Duggan, Council stressed three areas of special concern: creation of an intellectual atmosphere, world awareness and better communication through the college community.

In the intellectual realm, Council sponsored many innovations. Freshman Orientation featured the intellectual approach. Language tables in the Dining Room were popular with students. The World Awareness program, carried on in the Dining Room and the Cafeteria, promoted discussion of current events.

Campus communications are improved by continuation of the Campus Community Conferences and by the Club Community Conference, a first at Regis.

Through their constant activity and tireless efforts, the Student Council has been true to the students and united with them in a common goal—the betterment of the Regis community.

Thus the Council has pointed out the Way, the Truth and the Life to every member of the Regis family.

Clubs Channel Academic Aims to Activity

International Relations Club members listen attentively to an article on current world affairs which I.R.C. President, Mary Dunleavy (centre) suggests for future club discussion. Her advisers are Patricia Hendricks, Janice Snook, Mary Lou Bresnahan and Judith Powers.

I. R. C.

By monthly lectures and by means of panels, members of the International Relations Club arrived at a deeper understanding for world peace.

Activities on campus promoted world-mindedness among students, thus making them aware of current problems and forming opinions on matters of international scope and import.

With a knowledge of these events, members came to a solution to world problems.

Writers' Club

The Writers' Club serves as a literary marketplace for the exchange of ideas of members for creative and critical work.

A lecture series was opened by a Weston poet, Mrs. Katherine Hoskins, who read and interpreted selections of her own poems. Other activities of the year included a critical workshop of student poetry and short-stories; and a tour of The Boston Globe, during second semester.

Sound of Music Lifts Each Poetic Heart

Millicent Diggs, Lianne Cronin, Laura Allen, Suzanne Tetrault and Constance O'Brien gather around the piano with their Glee Club President, Geraldine Pucci. Donned with familiar maroon and gold robes that have earned their dignity, the group rehearses for a concert.

Glee Club

Of the superior advocates of the College the Glee Club ranks among the highest. Expanding success can be attributed to loyalty and faithfulness of members, under the direction of Berj Zamkochian and Sister Mary Bobola, Moderator. Several hours spent weekly in rehearsals have reaped fruits of fame in the last year.

Début of the musical season was a Pontifical High Mass at the Worcester Auditorium for the Catholic Youth Congress.

New version of the annual Christmas Concert introduced voices of St. Theresa's Chorale, Catholic Memorial High School and Regis, which combined to render "The Song of Christmas." On-campus program was presented also and highlighted the Nativity pageant, true spiritual jewel.

Selections from Verdi and Rachmaninoff took the spotlight in Jordan Hall. Carondoliers added their talents to a day well spent in the company of music.

Following custom, a Joint Concert with Fordham University and Regis Night at the Pops took place.

The Glee Club desires to promote an interest in, appreciation and an application of the world's best musical literature.

Arts Plus Science Challenge Every Mind

Pauline Lafleur, Vice-President, Catherine Moran, President, Joan Murray, Publicity Manager, and Judith McAuliffe, Treasurer, discuss cultural activities for the year with an eye toward a greater interest in and knowledge of English Literature.

Literati

To promote wider interest in and knowledge of English Literature, Literati sponsored several activities.

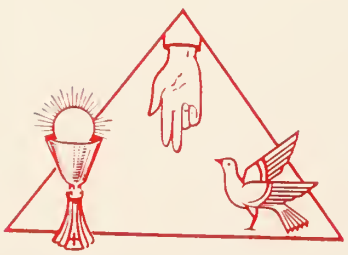
Members attended a lecture at Harvard given by Archibald Macleish and saw J.B. at the Colonial Theatre. A joint gathering with the Writers' Club proved enjoyable with Katherine Hoskins as guest speaker. Museum trips, lectures and other cultural stimulations exemplified the Literati goal.

Mathematical Club

One of the most popular organizations on campus, the Mathematical Club enables those interested to gain practical experience for a career in their favorite field.

Chief aim is to enrich the mathematical experience of the student by exploring areas not revealed in formal courses. Mathematicians are instructed in the useful art of the slide rule, plus the theory of simple to complex calculators.

Mathematical Club leader, Patricia Kiley discusses geometrical figures with users of the slide rule. They include Mary Murphy, Publicity Director, Agnes Houston, Secretary, Patricia Dowd, Vice-President, and Anna Lamperti, Treasurer, of the mathematicians.



Lay Apostolate Epitomizes Real Charity

Mission Unit enthusiasts include Angela Regis, Pauline Lafleur, Chairman Sonia Mejia, Marjorie Moriarty, Caroline Murphy, Sherill Geary, Alice Wienand. Sonia indicates foreign and home areas, where Regis Lay Apostles have devoted a year to spread Theology and Education.

Mission Unit

From Alaska to Florida, from Texas to Guam—Regis collegians leave their marks upon the globe. Twenty-one mission units dot the map, since the first missioner set out from Regis, ten years ago, for the island of Guam.

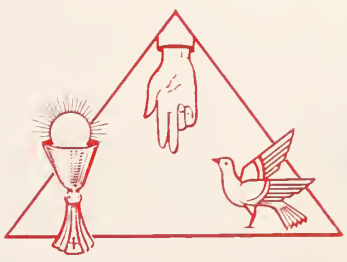
Chief work of the Mission Unit is the promotion of the lay apostolate, whereby graduates and alumnae volunteer one year of service to the Church.

Progress made in ten years has been phenomenal. Formerly, the Mission Unit collected stamps, sold candy, conducted a Lost and Found Department. Today, the committee under Sonia Mejia runs a newspaper and a magazine agency, prints the Mighty Mite, and has made Rose Day a Regis byword on campus for many years.

Students will recall the hilarious Holy Cross production, at the college, under the auspices of the Mission Unit.

Seniors give their own special gift to the missions. Proceeds from the Senior Show help defray expenses of classmates on the lend-lease program.

Down the days numbers increased to 90. Sixteen other colleges and three Newman Clubs followed the Regis way.



World Becomes Creative, Cooperative Stage

Anne Twohy, Publicity Director, Kathleen Minihan, Secretary, Roberta Gillespie, President, Marilyn Stasio, Vice-President, and Susan Fallon, Treasurer, are in the process of selecting costumes for a forthcoming production of Mask and Wig.

Dramatic Club

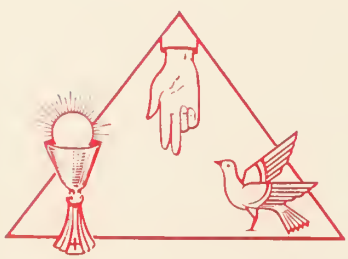
Largest club on campus, the Mask and Wig, Dramatic Society, has for its aim the promotion of interest in all phases of dramatic production. Members responded enthusiastically by acting, directing, writing, designing and producing plays presented this year.

Highlight of the season was the successful presentation of "The Diary of Anne Frank," with Mary Ann Stackpole. A mystery play, "The Thirteenth Chair," was the Spring offering in the Gymnasium.

Regisites will recall Mr. Planchett's make-up demonstration, as well as the lecture on production by Mr. Watts. A theatre party, a play festival, a night of one-act plays, a spaghetti supper filled out the agenda of club activities.

Officers attributed the success of Mask and Wig endeavors to the enthusiasm of members who responded to the committee system. In this way, each member has an opportunity to participate in one or more of the many phases of production.

A wider goal of the Mask and Wig is to encourage Regisites to take an intelligent and active interest in every facet of the drama, on and off campus.



Effervescence Bubbles on Regis Stage

Rehearsing for a future presentation of "The Thirteenth Chair," are Theresa Reis, Anne Hickey, Margaret McMurray, Margaret Wade and Patricia Hendricks, Mask and Wig members.

Mary Ann Stackpole ponders over the script, while preparing for her title role in "Diary of Anne Frank."

Tableau of the Nativity is the culmination of the traditional Christmas play, given on the night of the Noël banquet. Catherine Pastore '63, was the author of this year's original production.

Social Workers With Teachers of Tomorrow

Marianna Cardi, President of the Ethelonians, clarifies matter of concern for her assistants. They include Barbara Ponte, Carroll Beegan and Agnes O'Hara, who are enjoying a breath of fresh air on the Parterre. As Sociology concentrators they "are willing to serve."

Ethelon Club

Ethelonians provide outlet for generosity of Regis students and thus stimulate interest in sociological projects.

Participation by the entire campus in the Club's Food Sale benefits many less fortunate in society, including those in mental hospitals, rehabilitation centres and settlement houses.

Climax of the year is a Spring Tea to honor members and supervisors of Social Service Agencies and of field work.

Nu Beta

Today's Nu Beta members are tomorrow's teachers, psychologists and psychiatrists. Uniting common interests, members attended lectures and panels to increase their knowledge of their field. Socially, they sponsored a joint bridge with the Business Club, presenting proceeds to the missions.

Dr. Boleslaw Wysocki and Dr. Warren Gribbons, among others, spoke to the club. Freshmen profited from a senior panel.

Nu Beta President, Dorothy Gallagher, joins her co-workers on College Hall Parterre for sunshine and informal conversation. Heads of the Psychology-Education Club are Elizabeth Mulkerin, Secretary, Gertrude O'Sullivan, Treasurer, and Margaret Carroll, Vice-President.

Ability Smiles Trustingly in Prospect

Home Economics

Alpha Omicron Tau develops an awareness of professional opportunities in Home Economics, by sponsoring lectures to discuss the roles of designer, teacher and dietitian.

Highlights of the year included an annual Christmas Party for underprivileged children and the Spring Fashion Show. Members played hostess to a panel of graduates, who presented vital information on their varied careers.

Key members of Alpha Omicron Tau give undivided attention to President Kathleen O'Brien. She explains the latest in the Home Economics field to Mary Duggan, Helen Casey and Anne McIsaac. The group includes dietitians, teachers, designers and homemakers of tomorrow.

Phi Upsilon Omicron

Phi Upsilon Omicron is a professional fraternity devoted to establishing and strengthening bonds of friendship, promoting moral and intellectual development of members, advancing and promoting Home Economics.

Phi U yearly sponsors a Christmas Party for underprivileged children. Special project, this year, is the Copper Valley School in Alaska, where Carol Desrosiers '57, is giving-a-year of teaching.

Spiritual Breath Invigorates Regis Life

Sodalists formulate plans for the spiritual events of Regis College. Seated are Angela Regis, Mary Supple, Prefects Barbara Cunningham and Suzanne Buteau, Ellen Lamplough. Standing are Kathleen Andrews, Judith Flaherty, Margaret Rose Shea, Irene Demers, Frances Warsawski and Leila Hogan.

Sodality

Sodality of the Immaculate Conception, outstanding spiritual organization on campus, was re-organized according to the wishes of the late Holy Father, Pope Pius XII. He urged a return to the observance of the Common Rules.

The first embodies the threefold purpose of the Sodality: personal holiness, sanctification of others and the defense and spread of the Church.

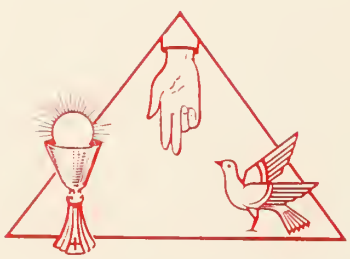
Regis joined with Boston College, Emmanuel and Newton College of the Sacred Heart to establish an Archdiocesan Union of College Sodalities.

Weekly meetings, with Father Burns, Director, featured instructions, unit discussions and resolutions on spiritual and apostolic topics.

A monthly Holy Hour, Spring Day of Recollection and public tribute in the May Procession supplemented the annual retreat.

Sister Mary Mildred, first Sodality Moderator, left Regisites with her devotion to Our Lady and enkindled a love for the Blessed Mother in all who were privileged to know her at Regis.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."



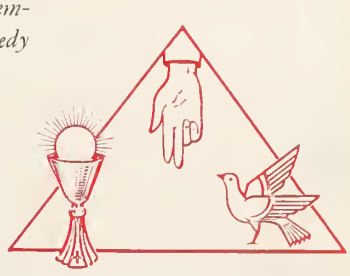
Touch of Regal Beauty Honors Our Lady

Carole Riordan leads the Juniors in pastel gowns. She is followed by Christina Kennedy, Nancy Sheehan and Mary Duggan.

Young friends join the Regis procession to honor Our Lady.

Margaret Kelley is crowned by her attendants, Rosemary Catalucci and Janet Clements. Colleen Kelly and Mary Anne Kennedy are court members.

The May Queen poses regally on Parterre steps against a backdrop of stately pine and katsura trees.



Beacon Beams on Scientists, Economists

Officers of the Louis Pasteur Club informally review today's trends in various branches of science, discussed during monthly meetings. Executives include Janet Casey, Vice-President, Mary Supple, President, and Angela Regis, Treasurer. Virginia Cunningham, Secretary, is not photographed.

Louis Pasteur Club

Gatherings of the Louis Pasteur Club are geared to interests of future scientists. Guest speakers promote knowledge of scientific careers.

Madeline Pini '60 informed members of opportunities in "Aviation Medicine."

Dr. Ann Howard gave a consideration of "Women in Medicine." Dr. E. M. Burke, Radio Biologist, spoke to LPC on "X-Ray as a Diagnostic Tool," informative and enlightening.

Economics Club

Stimulating student interest in economic life of the nation is the chief aim of Lambda Tau Phi at Regis.

Primary endeavors are directed toward acquisition of solid Christian principles, of good technical policies and of a clear link between these foundations and current problems.

"So let your light shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father who is in Heaven."

Sonia Mejia, leader of the Economics group, reviews some points for her interested associates: Janet Buckley, Elaine Woods and Eleanor Murphy, as they perch upon the landing on a warm afternoon. Well versed in the latest on Wall Street, they are intent on current affairs.

Political Annals Studied for Application

History Club

Leo XIII Historical group delves into the past in search of explanatory factors for today's world. Discoveries of crises and glories urge Catholic historians to understand better our universal heritage.

"The first law of History . . . not to fear to state what is true . . ." was Cicero's creed, which Pope Leo adopted. Upholding these words, the Club sponsored a lecture on Africa by Sylvester A. Swuye.

Jane Guerke, Publicity Manager, Olivia Russell, Vice-President, Barbara Norman, President, Mary Gebelein, Treasurer, and Carole Page, Secretary, seem pleased with the success of their first semester activities, and ponder over future gatherings.

Carole Riordan, President, Catherine Bosteel, Treasurer, Janice Snook, Veronica Frost, Secretary, Leila Hogan, Publicity Manager, and Mary Dunleavy meet to discuss plans for a forthcoming club meeting and to review activities of past gatherings.

Government Club

Returning to active status on campus, the Government Club seeks to promote greater interest in governmental activities among students.

To achieve this end, the group adopted as theme "Elections—1960." This awareness program was effective in the dining room and the cafeteria.

Plans include establishing Young Democrat and Young Republican clubs to inform students more thoroughly.

Physical and Mental Gymnastics Combined

"Come one. Come all. The Athletic Association has fun for you." This was the cry throughout the year, as leaders investigated various sports. Officers include Patricia Dowd, Publicity Manager, Kathleen Minihan, Treasurer, Janet Murphy, President, Bernice Donahue, Secretary.

A. A.

Physical aspect of college life is spurred on by the Athleric Association. Sponsoring all campus sports, it aims to foster a desire for participation in such events.

Opportunities to play golf, field hockey, tennis, and to learn through motion pictures skiing thrills are offered.

Intercollegiate basketball stimulates competitive challenge. Victory is widely known by the Regis sextet.

Latin Academy

Sigma Tau Phi, Classical Academy, is dedicated to a wider knowledge of and interest in the classics. Meeting monthly, the group studies Latin prose composition and practises Latin conversation.

Members have a busy round of cultural activities. In January, they attended a lecture at Boston College on the influence of the Church Fathers. "Ben Hur," a spectacular film, featured a theatre party.

Interest in the classics means time spent in the Latin Academy, which helps these scholars in the art of composing and conversing with ancient languages. Judith Horgan, Lee Oberly, Mary Gilmore, Gene Gallaghan, Catherine Moran, Nancy Clemons translate latest topic.

Language Plus Business, Universal Ties

Modern Language Club

Integrating the study of German, French, Italian and Spanish languages creates on campus a microscopic union of these representative foreign nations fulfilling the motive of the Modern Language Club.

Panels, motion pictures, lectures, socials and field trips comprised part of the cultural calendar. The Christmas season was highlighted by a Yuletide play presented by the Senior concentrators in French.

Pictured on the Parterre are linguists: Laura Allen, Publicity Manager, Anna Minelli, Secretary, Claire Kent, Vice-President, Mary Eileen Hurley, Treasurer, and Suzanne Tetrault, President. French and Spanish hold the attention of the Modern Language Club.

Motivating forces of the Business Club gather around President Mary Early to scrutinize her typing abilities. Standing are Agnes Reardon, Treasurer, Sheila Curry, Publicity Manager, Andrea Lynch, Secretary. Seated are Mary Early and Sheila Mahoney, Vice-President.

Business Club

Enabling members to increase their knowledge of and responsibility for the Christian principles in the business world, Kappa Phi Epsilon fosters an intellectual and social blending in students.

Activities merge these aims and purposes through discussions, motion pictures and experiences of graduates.

The club-sponsored bridge benefitting the St. Joseph's missions showed Kappa's zeal.

Every institute of higher learning finds itself affected by the present economic inflation. Qualified students are clamoring for admittance to colleges and universities already filled to capacity.

Educators attempting to solve this problem realize that financial support determines the expansion potential.

Since its inception in 1927, the Regis College Guild has supported vigorously the College in its endeavors. The Guild calls upon alumnae, friends and mothers of students to aid its activities.

Autumn months are busied with preparation for the perennial Dessert Bridge. This event is followed by the ever-popular Christmas Sale. Festively decorated, Regis Hall offers Regisites and Guild members countless Christmas gift suggestions and novelties galore.

The distinctive Boston Pops devotes an evening in May to a Regis Night at Symphony Hall. A red letter date on the Spring calendar for every Regisite is this Guild-sponsored concert.

Modern facilities available to the Regisite owe much of their existence to these successful Guild ventures—as Maria Hall, the new dormitory, will testify.

In addition to fulfilling many of the College's plans through financial support, the Regis College Guild, under the direction of Mrs. John Shea, offers remarkable cultural and spiritual stimulation to its members at each of the carefully planned monthly gatherings.

The Alumnae Association participated with Regis College in the "Challenge to Christianity" lecture series. Speakers featured during the year included Herbert Philbrick, Douglas Hyde, Ernest Kehr, Dr. Paul K. T. Sih and Mrs. Louis Budenz, who discussed Communism.

Two annual functions drawing many graduates to show their loyalty to Alma Mater were the campus Harvest Bazaar and the Holly Tea.

Twelfth Night Ball, an innovation, was a substitution for the usual Noël Ball. This change in program was enthusiastically received by students and alumnae, who enjoyed a pleasant evening and cooperated in a financial success.

Alumnae-sponsored for the Junior Class was the annual Ring Dance, the usual colorful event in February.

Two other new ventures starred on the Alumnae calendar in a Spring Fashion Show and the Tufts Band Concert.

Graduates attended these events in large numbers and the Association and Officers were pleased with the cooperative spirit so often manifested.

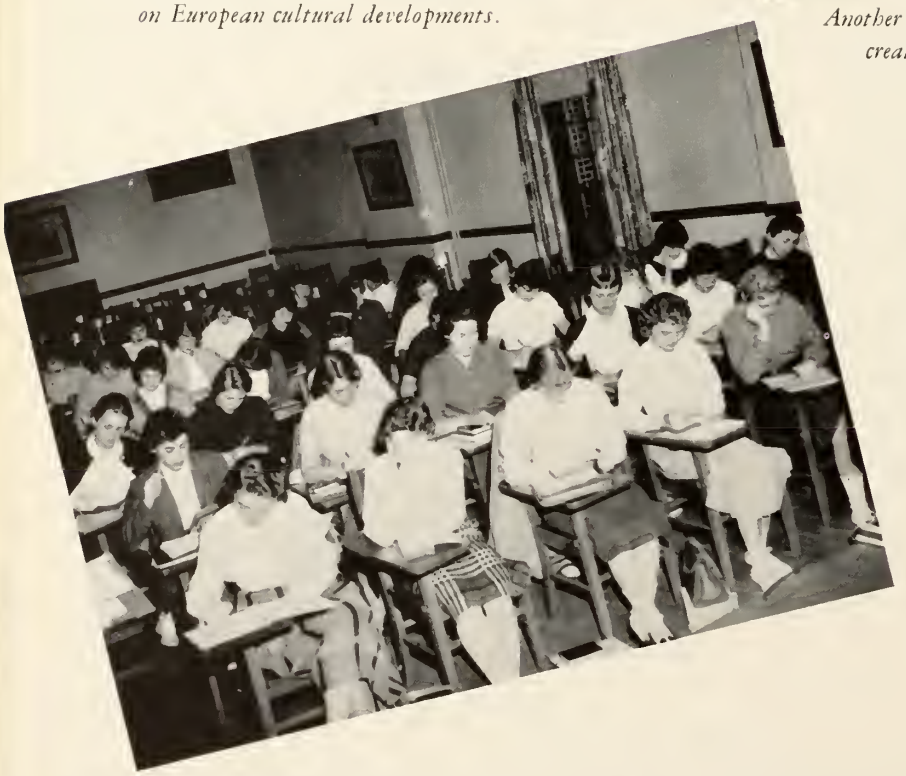
Taking place in the Fall and in the Spring each year is the annual Holy Hour, which demonstrated the spiritual interest of the Regis graduates.

Alumnae returned to Alma Mater to kneel again in the Chapel in College Hall, as they had done in undergraduate days, and to ask God's blessing upon themselves, their families and their friends.

Within Each Classroom Minds Respond

Dr. Mahoney enlightens his History class on European cultural developments.

Another Picasso, Mr. Robinson? Here are examples of creative gifts of Ann Letourneau and Rose Craig.



Western World Literature gems have captured the rapt attention of this group of Sophomore students.

Regis College offers a four-year course of study leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree. Curriculum is divided into a Lower and an Upper Division. The former covers the first two years and is concerned fundamentally with providing a general background. The latter division comprises the last two years and is devoted primarily to programs of concentration.

Courses in philosophy and theology form the integrating core at Regis.

General background studies include English, languages, natural and social sciences. Regisites choose a field of concentration at the end of Sophomore year. This emphasizes intensive research in the literature of the particular field of concentration, climaxed by a comprehensive examination in Senior year.

From Book to Book, How Regisites Grow

Spanish is in action in one of Miss Josephine DeSimone's Sophomore Spanish groups.

Anne Twohy, Home Economics concentrator, is busily preparing a project in the Clothing Lab.

A Regisite at the head of the class is not uncommon in one of Sister Mary Xaveria's courses in Education.

Class, Lab, Council Foster Many Facets

The camera invades the academic realm, where classes are in session.

Sophomore Home Economics majors work on practical application of their Dietetics class.

A Freshman Theology class listens attentively with Bibles on hand, to prove a point.

Christina Kennedy, Senior N.S.A. delegate, and Gail Brosnihan, Senior N.F.C.C.S. delegate, are aided in their work by Diane Doherty, Junior N.S.A. delegate, and Jane D'Ercole, Junior N.F.C.C.S. delegate.

Work Plus Play Make Jill a Bright Girl

Absorbed with thoughts of careers in the world of typewriters, steno-pads and machines, America's future business women hold a Seminar conducted by Mary Regan.

Carolers add to the gaiety of Regis Christmas festivities. They include Glee Club members, Helen Casey, Ann Kimpton, Anne Hickey, Lucy Ricker, Margaret McMurray, Barbara Groncki, Millicent Diggs and Veronica Frost. This choral group featured at the annual Christmas concert.

Glittering Gems From Junior Week Crown

Queen Ann Louise Whitcomb reigns over the Prom. Pamela Mahfood, attendant, Junior Week officials and Roberta Gillespie, attendant, join in the coronation ceremony—exciting climax to a memorable occasion.

Couples gather around to applaud the selection.

The Line Up. Couples wait patiently as the Grand March edges around the dance floor. Famous saying was, "There's plenty of room for more."

Best Beaux Deserve Bow at Banquet, Fun

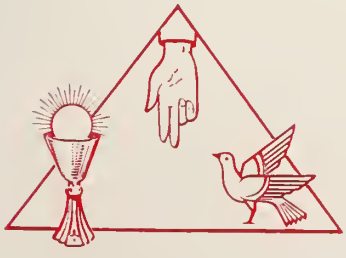
At the head table of Dad-Daughter Banquet, Mr. Riordan and Carole, Father Burns, Mr. Kennedy and Christina, Chairman of the event; Mr. Riley as M.C. and Martha, Deborah and Mr. Rooney wait for dinner to be served.

Junior Week

Depicted on these two pages are some highlights of Junior Week, under the direction of Deborah Rooney, aided by Irene Demers, Chairman of the Mother-Daughter Tea; Christina Kennedy, Dad-Daughter Banquet; Catherine Moran, Theatre Party; Ann Marie Volante, Junior Prom; Suzanne Tetrault, Tea Dance; and Brenda Donnelly, Jazz Concert, and their committees.

Only when such a busy week ended, did we realize why Junior Week is the most looked-forward-to social event of our college career.

Perhaps the anxieties of Junior Week have caught up finally with Chairman Deborah Rooney, even during the Grand March.



Years Between Melt Naïveté to Dignity

Suzanne Buteau receives her academic cap and gown from Monsignor Daly, assisted by Father Burns, at the Founders' Day ceremony at the Norman Tower Gardens.

Active Christina Kennedy was nominated by Regis as top Catholic Youth of the Year, 1959.

Regisites Active in, Outside Classes

Jane Sprogis, Madeline Pini, Mary Supple, Angela Regis, Ann McManus, Mary Jane Doherty, Phyllis Reddy, Roberta Gillespie, Biology concentrators, show togetherness in the Physiology Laboratory.

Choristers preparing for a concert are Barbara Groncki, Millicent Diggs, Ann Kimpton, Veronica Frost, Ann Hickey, Helen Casey, Margaret McMurray, Lucy Ricker.

Dorothy Hutchinson, Lianne Cronin, Patricia Bench, Sally White apply classroom Physics in Lab hour.

Have Triple Gain in Way, Truth, Life

Sister Suzanne, s.g.m., member of the Class of 1960, prepares for a day of classes.

Mary Casey, Millicent Diggs, Marcelle Lamoureux, Maureen Bosteel and Sherill Geary meet to discuss C.C.D. Methods Course given every year.

Carondoliers complete the harmony of the Glee Club with the melodious voices of Helen Casey, Geraldine Pucci, Irene Demers, Laura Allen, Pauline LaBouliere, Barbara Norman, Lianne Cronin and Mary Jane Doherty.

Basketball, Field Hockey Spark Verve

Fall activities on the gym field test the ability of students with a hockey stick. Here they vigorously compete for possession of the ball with which they hope to score a goal.

"Come on, Regis. We need more points," players cry, trying to make the Red and Gold victorious.

Activities on the hilltop are incomplete until the Regisites put their athletic ability to a test. Sometime during the year, the collegians will find pleasure in sports they enjoy most.

The Athletic Field is open in the Fall for field hockey, and in the Spring for tennis, archery and softball. Winter time in the gymnasium means volley ball, golf or basketball. This latter is highlighted because it is the only competitive sport on campus.

Devoting their time and energy to this, many enthusiasts bring victory to Regis, and thus develop a sound mind in a sound body.

Eagerly awaiting the success or failure of this basket are home team members and their competitors.

Sports Round Out Greek Education Idea

Good form in swinging a club is stressed during golf lessons for Sophomores, Joan Williams, Jeannette Benoit, Patricia Lynch, Nancy Greene, Joan Deery, as they practise strokes.

Bull's-eye. Lillian Leverone and Carol Healy, Juniors, sight the target and stretch the bow for a top score.

Fingers on Pulsebeat of Campus Events

REGIS HERALD

Once each month the Journalism Room is jammed with avid subscribers for the latest copy of the up-to-the-minute coverage of campus and international news. The Regis Herald provides students with the truth, events effecting and influencing their lives and an opportunity for intelligent opinions and ideas.

The student-edited paper contains features and reviews, timely and constructive editorials, columns on Regisites in the news, cultural events in and around Boston and outstanding college club functions.

For twenty-six years the Herald strives to maintain as its guiding principle the Catholic conscience and conduct in reporting the truth.

Kathleen Brennan, Claire Finnegan, RoseAnne Craig, Editors and Business Manager of the Regis Herald, discuss future possibilities.

Cordial student reception of Hemetera's new look rewarded the efforts of Editor Marilyn Stasio. Assisted by Business Manager Suzanne LaFlamme, staff members introduced a new policy in fiction, poetry, articles and art, emphasizing a modern, forward look.

Regisites approved the new, white cover with its futuristic lettering. Designed by Jane Ryan, the cover featured a modernistic impression of the Norman Tower. Within, the range of articles varied from a study of the neuroticism of Sigmund Freud to an evaluation of the Surrealistic Movement in modern art.

Way, Truth, Life Guide Mt. Regis Spirit

Co-Editors Martha Finnell and Margaret Curtin check editorial progress in The Mount Regis, as Nancy Sheehan and Elaine Abbott observe.

The Journalism Room is fast becoming a ghost town, while the end of the year draws near. Regisites recall the continuous click of typewriters, the buzz of editorial conferences and peals of laughter, as the forces behind the yearbook grind their proverbial axes.

Mount Regis' new cover is a vivid red leatherette, highlighting the Regis seal in gold. Black drapes have replaced the traditional white blouses.

After months of chasing the Faculty through the corridors of Regis, staff members finally succeeded in capturing them in informal poses.

Hobby shots were replaced by a separate section of informal senior snapshots, placed at the end of the formal Senior photographs and throughout the book.

Now, the Mount Regis is out; and the Journalism Room echoes with the silence of empty sounds. We cover our typewriters and close the door.

Yearbook activity swings into the home-stretch as Jane Ryan, Margaret Curtin, Martha Finnell, Geraldine Pucci go over details. Standing are observant aides: K. Brennan, B. J. Murphy, A. Nardone, A. Dacey, D. Burns, R. Craig, C. Menslage, M. Tyler, G. Rickus, P. Lafleur and M. Stasio.

Acknowledgments

Publication of a yearbook is accomplished only by persistent cooperation, application and charity on the part of many individuals. The Mount Regis gratefully acknowledges the support of Administration, Faculty and Students, whose efforts were a catalyst to success.

To Mr. Herbert Waxler, Photographer at the Alfred Brown Studio in Brookline, Mr. Harold Johnson, expert Consultant at the Folsom Engraving Company in Boston, and to Mr. Robert Hickox, Adviser on printing problems from the Andover Press of Andover, we are sincerely indebted for their untiring support and experienced advice.

Last, but far from the least in importance, we of The Mount Regis extend well merited praise to Sister Mary Regina who has, as our Moderator, devoted much effort and conscientious attention to the endeavors of the yearbook. In trials and tribulations as well as in successes, she has been by our side and through it all has unselfishly given of her time.

Congratulations

A Book To Be Treasured . . .

This annual is a permanent record, in picture and prose, of the academic year 1959-1960 at Regis College. Its value will increase as the years pass, and the quality of the printing will contribute in great measure to its lasting worth.

The Andover Press, Ltd., takes pride in its well-known craftsmanship which, combined with the long hours of careful planning and painstaking editorial work by the MOUNT REGIS Staff, makes this a book to be treasured.
